Family involvement and educational success of the children of immigrants in Europe. Comparative perspectives

Edited by Fibbi, Rosita | Crul, Maurice | Schnell, Philipp

This special issue brings together five comparative papers studying involvement practices in immigrant families and its links to educational success and upward mobility by their children. The contributions describe various ways of family involvement, highlight reasons for it in familial discourse and explain how it effects educational upward mobility. Taken together, they disentangle common processes and similarities for children of immigrants across different countries.
